Day to Day

Day 1 Day 1: Arrival in Le Rozier

Check in at your hotel. Located at the gateway to the Tarn and Jonte Gorges, where the two rivers meet, the village takes its name from the rosebushes grown by the monks of the Abbey of Aniane, who built the Saint-Sauveur church in 1705. Today, only the church remains of the monastery.

Facing Le Rozier, across the Jonte river, lies the village of Peyreleau in Aveyron, the starting point for the Causse Noir. The village is overlooked by an old tower, the last remnant of its fortified castle.

Day 2 Day 2: Le Rozier to La Viale or Hyelzas

Today begins with one of the most beautiful hikes in Lozère. The start is fairly demanding, with a steady climb up to the Causse Méjean, but the views are spectacular. First you see the cliffs of the Tarn Gorges, with kayakers and swimmers far below. Then come the cliffs of the Jonte, with their striking rock formations: natural sculptures soared over by the giants of the sky, the vultures.

Challenge: 18.3 km / 11.4 mi, 1,077 m ascent, 547 m descent
